In a laptop (USB or built-in modem), there are two points, one in "Phone" mode (default), the other in "Modem" mode. In other words, a modem lets you have more phone lines than you have service area. A build server is usually a "server" that builds software for your deployment and shares the compiled code to other servers. Many build systems use the Remote Desktop Protocol or a remote GUI or both. Build servers may have their own version control systems such as Git or may use a different revision control systems (like Subversion) so their own set of libraries used with that system.The present invention relates to electronic circuits for controlling the opening of an automatic transmission in response to one or more vehicle parameters. More particularly, the present invention relates to a system for preventing a vehicle from inadvertently shifting out of Park and for automatically releasing the Park lock in response to an emergency stop or a low fuel condition. Automatic transmission systems of the type concerned herein have an automatic transmission control system which is controlled by various input signals. The control system controls the operation of the transmission system in a manner which maintains the engine at an appropriate speed, even under rapidly changing vehicle conditions. To accomplish this purpose, the control system must be able to detect when the transmission is being operated in a manual mode and detect when the vehicle is in a non-manual mode. The control system receives an input signal representing the driver's desired transmission ratio in terms of the position of the throttle to achieve the transmission ratio. The system must also be able to detect an input signal representing the actual position of the throttle so that the desired transmission ratio may be adjusted appropriately. Since the operator must be able to manually override the automatic transmission control system, the control system must also be able to detect when the driver is overriding the system and control the transmission to prevent the transmission from being shifted from Park or to prevent the transmission from being shifted into a gear in which the transmission is locked out. In order to do this, the control system must be able to monitor the operator's throttle position as indicated by the driver and the transmission output speed to detect when the throttle is moved away from the Park position and the desired transmission ratio is exceeded. Traditionally, it has been common practice to check the position of the throttle lever to determine if a vehicle is in Park. U.S. Pat. No. 4,793,579, issued Dec. 27, 1988 to Sellotone, shows a system for an
