Overall, the App has a great UI and straightforward functionality. An App like BatteryBar is the perfect tool for those with an iPhone and you will be amazed by how it can help you monitor your life on your iPhone. Added step-by-step assistance is offered to support you in all phases of your journey to a iPhone. The best thing about this app is that there is no need for a smartphone to use it. Soon after installing the application, the device will start tracking. App Store is for the Mac App Store that is available only on the Mac. From the BatteryBar App you can limit the sensitive information to the minimum and add custom categories such as the favorite place and the favorite time. So if you're in a location with solid Wi-Fi but poor cellular coverage, note that some smartphones on some carrier networks can use Wi-Fi calling, which routes calls over a Wi-Fi network. Some cellular carriers also offer micro-cells, which plug into your Internet connection to provide a strong, local cellular signal over licensed frequencies for that carrier in your area.
