KeyMacro allows you to execute a simple keystroke to perform a variety of actions, for example pressing the Windows Key and typing x to restart your computer, pressing the Windows Key and typing w to minimize your active programs to the Windows Taskbar, pressing the Windows Key and typing o to open a folder, pressing the Windows Key and typing q to open the system settings window, etc. What's more, you can create your own Macros by combining predefined Macros, including the WinKey macro (Windows Key and X macro), Sleepmacro (Windows Key and Sleep macro), ShutDownmacro (Windows Key and ShutDown macro), etc. System Requirements: Windows XP/Vista/7, Windows 7.0 Publisher's Description: Are you tired of writing the same text into your software every time you want to alert users of their exit date? The Wizard has already done that for you. Now you just have to write the message. With Wizard you can! Just take a look at the sample messages below and you'll see what I mean. WIZARD Description: Wizard is a powerful password editor for Windows. It allows you to create and manage passwords with ease. The program consists of three basic components: * Password List: you can save a list of frequently used passwords for later use. * Main Window: the program's central window shows you the current password. You can change it and add new ones. * Password Entry: the password input box. You can enter and edit passwords. The Password List allows you to save passwords you use often for later use. This way, you can speed up the password creation process. To start, just type a keyword in the main window. Wizard will save the password list in the specified directory. Next, choose from the available options what kind of password you would like to create and press Enter to create it. To change the existing password, type it in the password input box and press Enter. Wizard will prompt you for a new password. Press Enter to accept it, and press Enter again to create it. The Main Window shows you the current password. To change it, press Enter twice. The default password is "Password". You can also change it to another type of password. To edit the password, click on the password's name in the list and press Enter. Enter the new password and press Enter. The new password will be saved and displayed in the password list. The Password Entry box is the password 2edc1e01e8
