Like the Windows version, the Mac version supports work on many different operating systems including Linux for professional work. Recently, Adobe released a free software application that runs on top of the Creative Cloud platform. A hosted version of the same application is also available for individuals to use affordably, with prices ranging from $9.99 USD to $29.99 USD per month (inclusive of taxes). The Lightroom World app allows work to be created in the application and handled on a more refined level while remaining functional on a device. It includes several Lightroom standard features, as well as a range of new, specialized functions that illustrate the history and development of one of the world's best-selling creative applications. Compensating for the loss of the Mac Lightroom development staff, Adobe replaced the Creative Cloud World application with the new Lightroom World 3D app. Also, the application is only available on iOS devices. This update brings smaller increases in catalog size than in the past, but the latest version of Lightroom 5 is significantly faster and uses less disk space than the previous version of the product. It also offers more stability and is easier to use than the former incarnation.
